Life's Leadership Lessons

Osama Tabbara

RPh, EMBA, BCNSP
President, IVPN-Network

"Welcome to the inaugural edition of the IVPN Newsletter, edited by Dr. Nisreen Mourad. I extend my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Nisreen for giving me the opportunity to share few leadership thoughts.

Reflecting on my twenty-five years in hospital pharmacy leadership, I have drawn significant inspiration from the Multiplier Leadership Concept. This approach has profoundly shaped my journey, emphasizing the discovery of talents and encouraging everyone to work smarter. This leadership style lies in recognizing the potential for genius in each individual.

At IVPN, we consistently cultivate a culture of talent recognition and development through mentorship. Our mission is to identify and nurture skilled, dedicated caregivers and develop the pharmacy talents and leaders of tomorrow who will shape the practice of today. Our philosophy also centers on the belief that everyone possesses the capacity to lead. Talents, skills, and capabilities vary among individuals, and true leaders can emerge from any level within an organization. This inclusive approach ensures that leadership potential is recognized and fostered, irrespective of hierarchical positions.

Our leadership journey starts with talent discovery, mentoring, inspiring, trusting, then delegating. By setting high expectations, leaders can inspire their teams to achieve remarkable accomplishments. Emphasizing these core values ensures that everyone is encouraged to reach their full potential, contributing to successful career growth.

As we look to the future, IVPN remains committed to expanding our mentorship programs, enhancing professional development, strengthening collaborative partnerships, and fostering a culture of innovation. These efforts will ensure that IVPN continues to serve and empower, shaping the face of pharmacy today and tomorrow."
